Ike Says Wilson's Crack About Guard Very Unwise

4 States Plagued By Flash Floods

BARBOURVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Damages ran into the millions of dollars and thousands of persons in four states were forced from their homes by rain-swollen mountain rivers which promised new devastation today after taking at least three lives.

Emergency aid was rushed into southeastern Kentucky, where the flood gave indications of being the worst on record. The full extent of damage couldn't be learned.

The stricken area also included portions of Tennessee, Virginia

Phone Company Plans $240,000 Expansion Here

Continued expansion and improvements in the telephone system in the Washington C. H. area this year will require an expenditure of $240,000 by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Principal items in this year's program call for additional dial equipment and more outside lines to provide for an expected increase of approximately 225 new telephones in 1957.

Plans for this year were announced Wednesday by Paul Dougherty, Washington C. H. commercial manager, as he and other local telephone officials left for Dayton to attend the company's annual supervisory meeting at which Ohio Bell President John A. Greene of Cleveland met with supervisory employees from this part of the state.

DOUGHERTY SAID that last year 234 telephones were added in the Washington C. H. area. This brought the total number of telephones in service here to 6,759.

Both local and long distance calls continue to increase here, Dougherty pointed out. The number of local calls made daily here in 1956 averaged 25,070 — about 1,500 more a day than five years ago.

Long distance calls originating here averaged 1,200 daily, compared with 904 a day in 1951.

Silence of Girl Brings Boy's Suicide

DALLAS (AP)—A 12-year-old boy hanged himself a few minutes after his girl friend refused to say whether she preferred him or another boy. Relatives said they found David Harrington hanging from a shower curtain rod by a necktie a few minutes after he phoned a 13-year-old sweetheart, Peace Justice W. E. Richburg, ruined suicide.

Old Powder House Makes Way for Progress

By B. E. KELLEY
Another local landmark has vanished.

It is the "old powder house", a 12 x 12 foot, one-story brick structure which stood on the southside of W. Elm St. at the intersection of the Greenfield Rd.

It has been torn down — by G. D. Baker to make way for development of a new addition to the city.

Before wrecking the ancient structure, Baker had planned historical reasons, by moving it to another location where it would not be "in the way".

However when he made efforts to do this the walls crumbled and much of the building collapsed, so it was torn down.

THE BUILDING changed owners a number of times since it was built 75 to 80 years ago.

It again changed ownership—last week—for just one minute.

I was talking with Baker about it, and suddenly he said:

"I know what I am going to do with that building. I am giving to you, so now it is yours to do with what you please!"

It was the first time I had ever owned a brick building of that size, (or even smaller) and after expressing my appreciation for the gift I said:

"Now to show you my heart is in the right place, I am giving the building back to you".

MY INFORMATION is that the "old powder house", as it has been called for the last 50 years, was originally built by one of the early wholesale grocery companies here, probably the Welton-Baker Wholesale firm predecessor of the Dahl-Campbell Co. and finally The Midland Grocery Co. of today. It could have been used by the former White and Ballard Wholesale Co.

The building was without windows and had one door, which fronted on Elm St.

The door was heavy and always kept padlocked, while the structure was in use. It was built exclusively for the storage of black powder, and later housed

But President Agrees with Pentagon Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today Secretary Wilson made a very unwise statement in saying that draft-dodging developed in National Guard enlistments during the Korean War.

But Eisenhower told news conference he is sure that Wilson's main interest—just as it is—is to try to assure that the Guard is a well trained military unit in event of emergency.

Chairman Gordon (D-III) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee forecast an "overwhelming" House vote for the bill because, he said, its defeat would be "misinterpreted throughout the world with consequences damaging to our own vital interests."

Rep. Lawrence Smith (Wis.), a senior committee Republican who led the opposition, said, "I know when I'm licked."

Some Democrats attacked Eisenhower's Middle East policy during debate Tuesday, but said they had no choice other than to vote for the resolution now that it has been publicly presented.

House passage would send the bill to the Senate, where a similar measure is still being considered in committee.

The latest controversy swirling around Wilson was touched off two days ago when the secretary of defense said before a House committee that "a sort of scandal of draft-dodging business" turned up in National Guard enlistments during the Korean War.

Asked today whether he shares Wilson's view on that, Eisenhower shot back that his questioner knew better than that.

The President said Wilson was short-cutting when he made that assertion. It was, Eisenhower said, a very unwise statement by Wilson without thinking.

AUTHORITATIVE criticized by Guard spokesmen and some members of Congress for his Monday statement, Wilson declined to back away from it Tuesday.

Instead, when interviewed after a call at the White House, Wilson repeated his statement and declared he saw no reason whatsoever to apologize for it.

Wilson's remarks Monday were in a discussion of the Pentagon order for six months of active duty training for Guard enlisted men, which is to take effect April 1.

In talking about the matter today, Eisenhower said he wanted to emphasize that anything the National Guard has done has been done within limitations of the law.

Electric power was cut off in many communities, leaving hospitals with only emergency power on darkness.

Evacuees took refuge on higher ground in the homes of friends, churches and public buildings. Hotels which were safe from the water were crowded.

A 7-YEAR-OLD boy, Jimmy Deer of Verdunville near Logan, W. Va., drowned when he slipped from a foot bridge into a creek while en route to school.

Eisenhower said he was not pointing a finger at the Guard and that he was sure Wilson was not doing so.

It was at that point that Eisenhower remarked that Wilson was short-cutting in discussing the situation, and that in doing so he made a very unwise, unthinking statement.

BUT THE PRESIDENT had especially kind remarks about another member of his cabinet.

Eisenhower said he is standing by his statement of severa months ago that Secretary of State Dulles is the greatest secretary in the Arab world.

Appeals Court Sustains Hiltz In Funds Case

A defense motion for dismissal of an appeal in a suit for recovery of $3,564 from County School Superintendent W. J. Hiltz has been sustained by the District Court of Appeals in an opinion filed here.

The suit was filed Oct. 8 by Prosecutor John S. Bath, who by law represents the Fayette County Board of Education, on the basis of a report made by state examiners. The sum involved represented payments to the county superintendent, mostly for gasoline and oil, for which the state examiner had said "there was no supporting (receipts) evidence."

Bath, at that time, pointed out that the recovery suit left determination of the legality or illegality of the expenditures to the court.

Judge John P. Case of the Common Pleas Court here disqualified himself and Judge William Radcliff of Pickaway County was assigned to hear the case.

IN A DEMURRER, the county superintendent contended there were no allegations of illegal expenditure or misappropriation in the petition for recovery.

In his ruling on the demurral, Judge Radcliff said: "A thorough search of the petition and the examiner's report (on which the recovery suit was based) fails to reveal any statement that any money was illegally expended or that any taint of fraud surrounded any of the transactions covered in the report."

This ruling was appealed to the district court by Prosecutor Bath on Nov. 3, and it was Hiltz's motion to dismiss the appeal that was sustained in the opinion filed here Tuesday.

Rollo Merchant, who succeeded Bath as prosecutor on Jan. 7, indicated dismissal of the appeal means the termination of the recovery action.

Ike's Plan Seen Getting Quick OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution comes up for a House vote today. Friends and foes predict passage by a lopsided margin.

House passage would send the bill to the Senate, where a similar measure is still being considered in committee.

The immediate problem is the 6-month-old telephone strike against the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co.

The legislative group headed by Rep. Robert Taft (R-Hamilton) decided to study present utility laws.

Most speakers in six hours of debate used their time to attack what they called the "gag" rule forbidding amendments. But many said that, reluctantly, they would vote "yes" on passage.

So House leaders estimated there would be fewer than 75 "no's" on the final rollcall. That would be stronger showing than the 263-146 test vote Tuesday by which the House agreed to bar amendments to the measure.

The resolution would authorize use of U.S. armed forces in the Middle East in case of open Communist aggression there, and it provides for using up to $20 million out of present foreign aid funds for military-economic aid to the strategic area.

In the Senate prospects for action were brightened Tuesday by a Foreign Relations-Armed Services Committee decision to hold a broad review of U.S. Middle East policy since 1946. Democatic demands for the inquiry had threatened to delay the bill.

CLARKSBURG LAKE Asked in Bill Filed in Senate

COLUMBUS (AP) — Construction of a huge new state lake in Pickaway, Ross and Fayette counties was proposed today in a bill introduced in the Ohio Senate.

The bill calls for an appropriation of $640,000 from natural resources department funds to build the lake on an 1,800-acre site near Clarksville, Ross County, near the junction of the three counties.

The bill was sponsored by three Republican senators, Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs and Robert Shaw and David Morgan of Columbus.

Chances of its approval in this session of the Legislature appear slim.

BLAKESLEE, Pa. (AP) — Five students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College were killed Tuesday in a head-on collision of their car and a Greyhound bus.

Neither the bus driver, Raymond J. Barry of Philadelphia, nor any of his passengers was injured in the wreck which occurred during fog near this desolate area of northeast Pennsylvania.

Public Utility Strike Laws Getting Study

State's Legislative Service Group Eyes Possible Statutes

COLUMBUS (AP) — Exploration of possible new state laws covering strikes against public utilities has convinced an Ohio legislative group that there are only four routes to follow:

1. Recommend compulsory arbitration.

2. Recommend state seizure of the struck utility.

3. Recommend a compulsory "cooling off" period.

4. Recommend nothing.

A subcommittee of the Legislative Service Commission decided Tuesday to look into those four possibilities.

The immediate problem is the 6-month-old telephone strike against the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co.

The legislative group headed by Rep. Robert Taft (R-Hamilton) decided to study present utility laws.

It will confer with the state Public Utilities Commission chairman, Robert L. Moulton and with his designated successor, Everett H. Krueger Jr., who will take over Friday.

Senate minority leader Joseph W. Bartunek (D-Cuyahoga) suggested the group confine its study of possible new laws to the four routes listed.

THE OLD Legislature, in a special session last month, refused to pass a bill requested by former Gov. Frank J. Lausche to give the governor power to seize and operate a utility firm hit by a service-closing strike.

Shortly before the service commission group waded almost gingerly into the question, Rep. Guy Hinerman (R-Stark) offered in the House joint resolution to create a six-member legislative committee to investigate the controversy between Ohio Consolidated and the Communications Workers of America union.

The House Tuesday passed, 131-6, and sent to a willing Senate, an O'Neill administration bill to abolish the state Highway Construction Council.

Both houses received a flood of new bills. The bills would:

Grant a $25-a-month pay increase

5 Collegians Die In Auto-Bus Crash

BLAKESLEE, Pa. (AP) — Five students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College were killed Tuesday in a head-on collision of their car and a Greyhound bus.

She will divide her time between the three counties and will continue to live here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Darlington, 729 Sycamore St. She will have approximately 2½ days of duty each week with the Health Department here for the present.

The Fayette board expressed regret that she cannot continue full-time duty here but agreed to the plan, it was pointed out, because members did not wish to stand in the way of Miss Darlington's advancement.

Finally, with his gasoline supply almost gone, he crash landed the small, single-engine training plane on a road at the outskirts of suburban West Des Moines. He was promptly arrested.

Soderquist was unhurt but police said he went into convulsions from shock after the landing.

At the hospital where he was taken for observation, Soderquist reported:

"I always knew I could do it. I've wanted to do something like this for years.

"I did it to show everyone I could fly—not so much now, good I could fly but that I could fly."

JAMES DOLEZAL, Soderquist's flight instructor, said the city's four-hour ordeal started as a routine flying lesson for the youth, who never had soloed but had been given about 15 hours pilot training.

Dolezal said Soderquist pointed a gun at him, then handed him a note ordering him from the plane.

"I certainly hope I do not have to put a bullet in your leg to prove I mean business," the note read.

Soderquist's mother, Mrs. Rudolph Soderquist, 51, of Clio, said Roy had tried to get into the Air Force but was rejected.

Police said charges of robbery and failure to have a certificate authorizing the operation of an aircraft would be filed against Soderquist pending a mental examination.

They were held for a time in the Franklin County jail on charges of burglary, but later were released to Ashtabula County authorities, who said they were wanted there on 22 counts of breaking and entering, including the one for which they were indicted.

They also are suspects in a break-in at the Sharrett Service Station in Jeffersonville the night of the Mount Sterling burglary.

The stricken area also included portions of Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia, where two persons drowned. An elderly Kentuckian man also was swept away when his home crumbled into the floodwaters.

Scores of communities were isolated in southeastern Kentucky, a coal mining region which was hard hit by high waters as recently as 1946.

Kentucky National Guard units and 200 men of the 16th Army Engineers group from Ft. Knox joined evacuation operations with boats and trucks and fed refugees from mobile kitchens.

HARDEST HIT in Kentucky apparently was Hazard on the Kentucky River, where flood damages were expected to exceed $5 million.

Dewey Daniel, a Hazard banker, reported: "Hazard's business section completely wiped out. Four feet of water in People's Bank."

His message was relayed by the Civil Air Patrol, which surveyed flooded areas from the air as a guide to rescue operations.

More than a thousand persons fled to higher ground from their homes in such other river towns in Kentucky as Harlan, Barbourville, Pikeville, Neon and Whitesburg.

In addition to the big Kentucky and Cumberland rivers in Kentucky, the streams out of their banks included the Pound River in Virginia, the Tug and Guyandotte in West Virginia, the Little Clinch and Powell rivers in upper east Tennessee. The Cumberland also reaches into Tennessee.

New flood warnings were raised for downstream communities.

The rivers were unleashed by a four-day deluge of rain that continued to pound some sections.

Bus and rail transportation throughout southeastern Kentucky was halted by high waters.

Electric power was cut off in many communities, leaving hospitals with only emergency power or in darkness.

Evacuees took refuge on higher ground in the homes of friends, churches and public buildings. Hotels which were safe from the waters were crowded.

A 7-YEAR-OLD boy, Jimmy Deer of Verdunville near Logan, W. Va., drowned when he slipped from a foot bridge into a creek while en route to school.

An unidentified man fell into the Dry Ford Creek, near War, W. Va., and a second man who jumped to his rescue was forced to turn back. The Kentuckian drowned when his house at Ross Point, on the Poor Fork of the Cumberland, was torn apart by the water.

Judge John P. Case of the Common Pleas Court here disqualified himself and Judge William Radcliff of Pickaway County was assigned to hear the case.

He went on to note that youths aged 17 to 18½ may enlist in the Guard. Eisenhower said he had long been struggling to make the Guard an efficient, well trained outfit capable of protecting the nation.

Then, defending a new Pentagon policy, Eisenhower backed Wilson in saying that Guard recruits should get six months of basic military training instead of the 11 weeks the Guard favors.

Eisenhower said he was not pointing a finger at the Guard and that he was sure Wilson was not doing so.

MOTHERS' POLIO MARCH Slated Thursday Night

BECAUSE 16,000 people were struck with polio last year, more than 100 Washington C. H. and Fayette County women will spend an evening away from home Thursday.

The 100, along with a few high school girls, a Cub Scout unit and a group of men, will be soliciting funds for the March of Dimes, nationwide fight against polio.

As they march, they will stop at every lighted porch in their appeal for campaign funds. Mrs. Dwight Coffman, director of the drive in the city, said that campaigners will not stop at any house where the porchlight isn't on. The porchlight signifies a willingness to give.

THE PORCHLIGHT parade is held nationally every Jan. 30—the birthday anniversary of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, himself a polio victim.

Workers in the city, under the direction of Mrs. Coffman, have been grouped into divisions and will march from 7 to 9 p. m. under the direction of a battery of captains.

In the county, where the drive is being supervised by Mrs. C. E. Rhoad and Mrs. Harry Campbell, the drive will be more diffused. Though most of the marching will be done Thursday night, some of the traveling in less thickly settled areas will have to be scheduled later.

Miss Darlington Named District Supervisor of Public Health Nurses

MISS GRETCHEN DARLINGTON is pictured on duty at her desk in the Fayette County Health Department in the Courthouse. She has been advanced to a newly created position of supervisor of public health nurses for the district composed of Fayette, Ross and Pike counties.

MISS GRETCHEN DARLINGTON, senior nurse in the Fayette County Health Department, has been promoted officially to the position of supervisor of public health nurses for the district composed of Fayette, Ross and Pike counties.

She will assume her new duties on Feb. 1, it was announced Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Benton V. Scott, health commissioner for the three counties, following approval at a meeting of the Fayette County Board of Health. The boards of Ross and Pike counties previously had voted to adopt the plan for creation of the new position and approval of Miss Darlington's appointment.

AT PRESENT her duties will not cover the city of Chillicothe, where public health work is handled by a separate board, although operating as a unit in the district, Dr. Scott indicated, however, that after some final adjustments, it is expected that Miss Darlington will assume the same duties with the other boards of the district.

She will divide her time between the three counties and will continue to live here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Darlington, 729 Sycamore St. She will have approximately 2½ days of duty each week with the health department here for the present. The Fayette board expressed regret that she cannot continue full-time duty here but agreed to the plan, it was pointed out, because members did not wish to stand in the way of Miss Darlington's advancement.

IT WAS 12 years ago that she came here from a public health nurse position at Bucyrus after previously having been graduated from the White Cross Hospital at Columbus. She had supplemented her training by attending the Public Health School at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

She was recommended for the promotion here by Health Commissioner Scott who was joined by the members of the Fayette County Board in declaring that she "fully justified the promotion with its increase in duties and problems, by reason of ability, efficiency, studious attention to duty and high standing in community work, as

Auditor's Stand On Grain Tax Issue Unchanged

State Department's Position Outlined
At District Meeting

Fayette County Auditor Harry R. Allen said Wednesday that he has not changed his mind about not collecting personal property taxes on wheat stored by the government under its price support program.

He and Treasurer Charles A. Fabb are both under orders of the Common Pleas Court here, restraining them from "collecting or attempting to collect" the tax.

Allen and two of his staff, Harold Hise and Mrs. Hugh Morris, attended the meeting of the Southwest Ohio Auditors' Assn. in the courthouse at Wilmington Tuesday where the tax on stored grain was one of the principal topics of discussion.

He said Andrew Huber, of the personal property tax division of the Ohio Department of Taxation, brought up the question of the tax on stored grain at the outset of the meeting by saying inquiries had been received by the department from many other county auditors since the injunction against its collection in Fayette County was granted by Judge John P. Case on Jan. 3.

JUBER, ALLEN SAID, made it plain that the state department had not altered its policy holding that grain stored under the price support program is taxable.

Fayette County is the only one of the 88 counties in the state in which collection of the tax has been halted by court order.

Back in his office Wednesday, Allen said he had no intention of asking farmers of Fayette County to list government-stored wheat for personal property tax.

Caught between the court order against the collection and implied order from the Tax Department to collect it, Allen said he would abide by the court order because he felt it took precedence over the Tax Department's directive.

HE COMMENTED that his impression was that Huber expected him to take such a stand after he had been shown a copy of the injunction which was issued against both the auditor and the treasurer.

Huber told the gathering of auditors that the Tax Department planned to take the case to the department's Board of Tax Appeals on the basis of the Fayette County injunction and that, if necessary, it will be carried to the Ohio Supreme Court.

The rest of Tuesday's meeting was devoted to an explanation of the different forms for listing personal property for taxation.

There were about 100 auditors and members of their staffs at the meeting.

5 Pct. Rate Hike On Railroads Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Train users within Ohio may face a 5 per cent rate increase.

Four railroads asked the increase to meet what they say are increased operating costs.

The Baltimore & Ohio; Erie; New York, Chicago and St. Louis; and Wabash asked the state Utilities Commission for permission to hike the rates on one day's notice.

Last Friday the interstate commission let railroads raise passenger fares on interstate travel by 5 per cent. The new fares go into effect Saturday.

GOP Senator Raps Benson's Newest Corn Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Young (R-N.D.) said today that if Congress adopts the corn program suggested by Secretary of Agriculture Benson it would mean the elimination of corn as one of the six basic farm crops.

Benson Tuesday outlined the administration's new corn plan to the Senate Agriculture Committee and said he was willing to support corn at $1.20 a bushel, which is about 70 per cent of parity, for the next three years.

The secretary also recommended raising the present base acreage for corn farmers from about 37 to 51 million acres. Farmers also would have to stay within acreage limits and comply with soil bank provisions to be eligible for price supports.

Young said he is sure that the committee, of which he is a member, will not approve less than 75 per cent of parity for corn and he believes the senate will uphold the committee.

Five-Story Plunge Fatal to Woman

Trucker Held After Wreck Forfeits Bond

Kenneth Taylor, 33, Columbus, driver of the tractor-trailer truck which crashed through the concrete railing of the bridge over Rattlesnake Creek on the CCC Highway at 6 a. m. Tuesday, forfeited $20 bond when he failed to appear in Municipal Court here Wednesday to answer a charge of reckless operation.

The charge was filed by Sheriff Orland Hays.

Taylor told Sheriff Hays the trailer broke loose from the tractor as he rounded the curve to enter the west end of the bridge and plunged into the creek. The 25,000 pounds of bubble bath and soap powder in it was scattered over the bridge and dumped into the creek when the big steel trailer split wide open going through the wall.

THE OTHER four cases on the Municipal Court docket were for traffic law violations. Bonds of $20 were forfeited in three of them. Cited by the State Highway Patrol were Raymond Horney, 42, city, Henry Sanderson, 34, and Richard Lee Garringer, 20, all charged with speeding on Route 22.

Car-Truck Crash Injures 2 Men

Collision Occurs At City Intersection

Hugh Creamer, 67, and Waldo Binegar, 68, both of Route 4, were treated in Memorial Hospital Tuesday afternoon for injuries received in a car-truck collision at Delaware St. and Eastern Ave.

They were taken to the hospital in the police cruiser by Patrolman Virgil Harris.

Creamer was treated for cuts and bruises of the head and chest and Binegar for lacerations of the face and head and fractured ribs. Both were released after receiving first aid.

According to the police report, the pickup truck, driven by Binegar, with Creamer a passenger was hit at the intersection by a car driven by Richard Lee Huff, 17, of 432 Eastern Ave.

Binegar and Creamer were thrown out of the truck when the two vehicles crashed. The truck continued across the yard at 702 Eastern Ave., hit a parked car and tore down part of a board fence at 1114 Delaware St. before it stopped by plane Tuesday.

THE BRICK used in the building probably were burned within what is now corporate limits of the city, and lime-mortar was used. This crumbled over the many years the structure stood, until it was ready to collapse as soon as the overhanging roof was removed.

The surplus stocks of powder carried by the wholesale firms were kept in the building, so that in case of fire, there would be no explosions in the wholesale houses.

This safety measure probably saved lives when the Dahl-Millikan wholesale plant burned here in the last days of 1911. As I recall it, this was the big fire which destroyed most of the block fronting on Main Street, from Court to East Streets.

Kimble testified he did fire the men, but that it was because he found out they were not representatives of the William J. Burns International Detective Agency.

He said he did not order detectives hired by the company to "hospitalize, run off the road or physically injure" the strikers.

Indiana Oil Refinery Hit By Explosion

Collision Occurs At City Intersection

WHITING, Ind. (AP) — A fire, preceded by an explosion, swept through the alkylation unit of the huge Whiting Standard Oil refinery Tuesday night, causing damages estimated "in the neighborhood of a million dollars."

Seven workmen suffered minor burns and injuries. All were released after first aid treatment at the plant hospital.

The blast in the alkylation plant destroyed the three-story building, two metal storage tanks, 100 feet tall and 15 feet in diameter, and several smaller tanks. The plant, a company spokesman said, produced 5,000 barrels of aviation gasoline a day.

Flames from the burning building and tanks were seen for several miles. The explosion was described as "quite a rocker" by a company spokesman and was heard throughout the Calumet district in northeastern Indiana and Chicago's far South Side.

However, a company spokesman said, the fire did not compare with the explosion and fire which swept the refinery, the world's largest, on Aug. 27, 1955.

In 1955 multimillion dollar fire in a gasoline cracking unit killed two persons, injured more than a dozen others and made 500 families temporarily homeless. The fire burned for nearly eight days.

Auditor's Stand On Grain Tax Issue Unchanged

State Department's Position Outlined
At District Meeting

Fayette County Auditor Harry R. Allen said Wednesday that he has not changed his mind about not collecting personal property taxes on wheat stored by the government under its price support program.

He and Treasurer Charles A. Fabb are both under orders of the Common Pleas Court here, restraining them from "collecting or attempting to collect" the tax.

Allen and two of his staff, Harold Hise and Mrs. Hugh Morris, attended the meeting of the Southwestern Ohio Auditors' Assn. in the courthouse at Wilmington Tuesday where the tax on stored grain was one of the principal topics of discussion.

He said Andrew Huber, of the personal property tax division of the Ohio Department of Taxation, brought up the question of the tax on stored grain at the outset of the meeting by saying inquiries had been received by the department from many other county auditors since the injunction against its collection in Fayette County was granted by Judge John P. Case on Jan. 3.

JUBER, ALLEN SAID, made it plain that the state department had not altered its policy holding that grain stored under the price support program is taxable.

Fayette County is the only one of the 88 counties in the state in which collection of the tax has been halted by court order.

Back in his office Wednesday, Allen said he had no intention of asking farmers of Fayette County to list government stores of wheat for personal property tax.

Cought between the court order against the collection and implied order from the Tax Department to collect it, Allen said he would abide by the court order because he felt it took precedence over the Tax Department's directive.

HE COMMENTED that his impression was that Huber expected him to take such a stand after he had been shown a copy of the injunction which was issued against both the auditor and the treasurer.

Huber told the gathering of auditors that the Tax Department planned to take the case to the department's Board of Tax Appeals on the basis of the Fayette County injunction and that, if necessary, it will be carried to the Ohio Supreme Court.

The rest of Tuesday's meeting was devoted to an explanation of the different forms for listing personal property for taxation.

There were about 100 auditors and members of their staffs at the meeting.

Prison Farm Chief Addresses Rotary

That the average age of prisoners at the London Prison Farm, and perhaps at most other penal institutions, in recent years has dropped from 25 to 35 years down to 18 to 25 years, was one of the significant statements made by R. B. Eckle, superintendent at the London state institution, in his talk before Washington Rotarians and guests Tuesday at the County Club.

Eckle stated that, in his opinion, this is largely the result of the alarming growth of juvenile delinquency, due either to broken homes or because "many parents fail to crack down" sufficiently on sometimes riotous activities of their children to teach them that learning sensible discipline in youth means much to their future".

He also stated that a majority of prisoners in Ohio's penal institutions are from the larger cities and that about one third are of foreign extraction.

THE SPEAKER, who was presented by W. W. Montgomery, is a former Fayette County resident of near Madison Mills. He has had 28 years of experience in Ohio prison work, formerly at the Ohio Penitentiary as deputy warden and as superintendent at the London Prison Farm since July of 1953.

His informal remarks before Rotarians were based on this long experience and dealt especially with some of the constructive things being done at the London institution where mostly honor prisoners are sent after being carefully screened at the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus.

Step by step he told how prisoners are inducted into the prison work at London, their periods of interviews with prison officials; how they are classified and assigned to duties either in industrial departments or farm work.

HE EXPLAINED that considerable attention is now given to the recreational features of prison life since it has been learned through experience that such activities, in connection with regular prison duties, relieves most inmates of that excess physical vigor which permits many of them to spend

Free Concerts For Visitors In Washington

A communication received by the Record-Herald from Congressman James G. Polk, representing the 6th Ohio District, advises that there are free concerts available for Fayette County and other visiting high school students who will be in Washington D. C. during the five weeks from April 17 through May 21. "Music for Young America" concerts are given by the National Symphony Orchestra.

This series was presented for the first time last spring, Rep. Polk says, and the enthusiasm of the thousands of teen-age visitors present was so gratifying that Mrs. Merriweather Post, first vice president and one of the founders of the National Symphony Orchestra, is sponsoring the series once more.

CONGRESSMAN POLK SAYS: "Free tickets will be made available for distribution to any groups and reservations can be made through my office, Room 315, Old House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

In conjunction with "Music for Young America", and in tribute to Mrs. Post, the National Symphony will hold the Merriweather Post Music Contest which is open to all high school violinists, pianists and cellists. The winner will receive the Merriweather Post Award—$2,000 and a solo appearance with the National Symphony Orchestra. I will be glad to send an application form and additional information to any young artist who is interested. All applications must be filed by March 1.

"I will be glad to be of assistance in making reservation for the concert and for students interested in participating in the music contest."

ation for the invitation to speak before the tri-city group here recently and the opportunity thus afforded to visit with many old friends.

Rotarian guests at Tuesday's meeting were Robert Raines of Piqua, Robert Jackson and Carlos E. Joslin of Mount Sterling and Samuel Landes of London.

Other guests were Jack Sparks with Atty. Rollo Marchant, Robert Smith with William Stoughton and William Gallagher of London who was with Landes.

The two Washington High School senior student guests were John Bainter and Arnold Ward, presented by Donald Wood.

Birthday greetings were sung for Francis M. Haines, Dr. Robert Woodmansee and Walter H. Seifried.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

The blizzard ranged for hours, and as I recall, caused at least one death, when a man walking along the highway (Route 38) north of Bloomingburg, near the (then) William Parker farm, fell at the roadside. His body was found days later in a snowdrift.

"ICE CREEPERS" NEEDED

That sheet of ice over Fayette County Monday brought to the minds of some local residents the icy period some 40 years ago, when for a week or more there was a sheet of ice over this area that caused extensive damage, and resulted in many persons being injured.

I recall that walking was so dangerous for several days that there was a heavy demand for "ice creepers", or spikes to strap about shoes and insure something like a safe footing.

Henry Sparks then had a hardware store on W. Court St., in the room, as I recall, where Bryant's Restaurant is now located.

Henry quickly sold out his supply of ice creepers, so, being "handy" with tools, he proceeded to make creepers which he sold for 25 cents a pair, and scores of people kept him busy for days producing the hand-made creepers, which prevented many falls and injury to the wearers.

I still have a pair of the creepers Henry made, and no doubt there are others also laid away so well they can never be found when they could be used to advantage.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

In the January 1926 blizzard, sub-zero temperatures were recorded for several days, with 15 below on the 24th of that month.

The blizzard piled highways full of snow, stopping all traffic for a day or two, holding up trains and closing virtually every school in the county for several days.

Lack of facilities for giving prompt attention to snow removal tied up traffic longer than it would have been with present day equipment.

Some Thoughts about Our Surplus Foods

The people of Fayette County are as interested as those of any other section of the country on disposal of surplus farm crops.

Surplus production of agricultural products for several years has been a political headache for our national administrations and there is still plenty of argument heard on this question.

Most of us here, as well as others over this great land of ours, have repeatedly heard suggestions, which always seemed to make sense, that our surplus food crops might well be used to a large extent in aiding the standard of living for deserving families in low income brackets as well as for strictly relief cases.

The government does provide a considerable amount of so-called surplus food for schools and various welfare agencies, as well as some for foreign relief, but there are many who argue that an overall plan covering this situation to better advantage, could be worked out.

As one example pointed out the Department of Agriculture estimates that 25 million Americans — almost one out of every seven — are underfed. A quarter of this number are living on Social Security or state welfare benefits; the remainder comprise family groups in low-income brackets. But in every case the individual diets are well below the minimum nutritional value.

There may be some question about the eating standards established by the federal agriculture department. Doubtless Asians generally would find its "low-cost" adequate diet" sumptuous; however, in a nation so rich as ours the barest food requirements would certainly call for a daily menu of meat, dairy products, cereal, vegetables, and fruit. Indeed, the variety and quantity of available foods help to distinguish the world-famous American standard of living.

In a comparative sense, there are millions of people in this country who are not getting the kind or the amount of food that they should. And yet there are billions on billions of pounds and bushels of eatables in caves and warehouses across the nation. That is why last year Congress directed the Department of Agriculture to consider a proposed stamp plan for free distribution of farm surpluses to needy Americans.

Several Congressmen, including Sen. Aiken of Vermont, ranking Republican of the Senate Agriculture Committee, believe such a plan offers the only practicable way of raising U. S. eating standards and of lowering the monstrous supply of excess foodstuffs.

Heretofore Secretary Benson has opposed the stamp plan, largely because of the expense involved in setting up a relief agency and distributing the food to authorized persons. Nevertheless, he does advocate selling surpluses abroad, even to communist satellites, at below-market prices.

The same opportunity to buy low-cost food could just as well, and just as cheaply, be offered to needy Americans perhaps opposed by wholesale and retail dealers. As the department's records show, most of the 25 million people in this category are not destitute; they simply don't have enough cash to pay today's high food prices. A modified stamp might or some such plan might help put some of the unused tons of food in the hands of those who most need it.

Ohio Solons Against Ike's Mid-East Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio members of the House voted by a nearly two-to-one margin against a proposal to consider President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution as it now stands.

Eleven GOP members opposed a rule prohibiting any amendments to the Eisenhower resolution. Six Ohio Republicans voted for the proposal.

Two Ohio Democrats approved the no-amendment rule and four Democrats opposed it.

The no-amendment rule passed the House 262-146.

Ohio's vote:

Democrats for the no-amendment rule: Kirwan, Vanik.

Republicans for: Ayers, Baumhart, Bolton, Dennison, Hess, Vorys.

Democrats against: Ashley, Feighan, Polk.

Republicans against: Betts, Bow, Brown, Cleverly, Henderson, Jenkins, McCulloch, McGregor, Minshall, Shenk, Sherer.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail and browse in old bookstores:

That the number of cars and telephones in the United States is increasing faster than the number of people.

That 4 million persons born in the southern states moved to other sections of America between 1950 and 1955.

That about 92 per cent of American girls get married and about 15 per cent of them land a man before they are 26.

That a colleague of ours, Charlie Rice, columnist on the Missouri State Penitentiary's monthly paper, observes, "A man all wrapped up in himself makes a small package."

That tiny Elaine Malbin, the opera star (she's only a half inch over five feet) keeps in trim by lying on her back and doing bicycle exercises with 10-pound lead weights built into her shoes.

That the biggest objection

many women have to pipe-smoking men is, "they spend so much time trying to keep their pipe lit they have no time left to talk." Whatever happened to the pipe-puffing fad among the ladies? Haven't seen one for years.

That a generation ago most medicines came in fluid form. Now between 80 and 90 per cent comes in pills and tablets.

Understanding the American Way By George Sokolsky

Margaret Mead, the anthropologist, has challenged those of her colleagues, "in their late forties or older," who complain about something called "conformity" which they accuse our young people of pursuing. She, who teaches young people, says:

"...there is today less blind, unquestioning acceptance of class or regional standards, more sense of choice and planning among styles of work and styles of life, more upstanding resistance to parental expectations that each generation should transcend the social level of the last, more willingness to reject values which were unquestioned in the last generation — such as the evident desirability of a college education — than there was 25 years ago..."

"Ours is always a culture within which one staked out membership in a given group from the outside in. Clothes and manners came before more tangible signs of membership; peasants girls from the Carpathians wore high-heeled shoes before they knew a dozen words of English; the rebellious daughters of clergymen bobbed their hair before, not after, they read their first articles in Freudian psychology..."

Then she says:

"...and one hears, with both amusement and understanding, the passionate rebellion of the daughter of a successful peasant, now residing in a middle-class suburb and going to good college, who rates against the bleak conformity of American life as compared with the magnificent diversity and assumed freedom of the individual existing in a Europe she has never seen and would be unable to tolerate for twenty-four hours were she to participate in that life from the inside instead of admiring the changing regional styles in architecture — and faces — as depicted in cinema travelogues."

influence than in earlier generations and a good commercial can put an identical can of cosmetics into every home, but whatever it is, young people are less coerced by their parents whether for better or for worse. Often I think it is for worse, but then every once in a while I am shocked into a realization that from the standpoints of morals, the next generation seems to be more rigid than their parents were, certainly in the 1920's. And if teenagers are foolish about "going steady" and such ideas, fewer of them than in my time are caught in devious mazes from which they cannot extricate themselves.

Prof. Margaret Mead makes a very sharp point about this:

"The beaver is really a lazy animal, declares a zoologist in a newspaper article. Maybe so, but the critter sure keeps mighty busy covering up that fact."

What is good posture? Well, you should appear to be standing straight when viewed from the side. An imaginary vertical line should be able to pass through the ankle, hip, shoulder and ear.

Natural Postion

You don't have to assume a military ramrod position. Good, straight posture actually is a natural position. Practice it and it soon will become a habit.

First, of course, you'll have to break the poor posture habit many of you undoubtedly have. The backache and foot and leg pains which frequently accompany bad posture will help remind you of the need for doing something about it.

Some persons may be unable to assume good posture even though they try. Luckily they are in the minority. But if you find that it is virtually impossible to stand in an erect position, better see your doctor about it.

Sometimes there are physical imperfections which contribute to bad posture. This is a problem for your physician.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

B. B.: What are the symptoms of tumor of the brain?

Answer: Symptoms of brain tumor depend upon the size and location of the tumor within the brain.

Most brain tumors cause headaches, disturbance of the various sensations and sense organs, such as the eyes; at times, attacks of vomiting may occur.

If a tumor of the brain is suspected, immediate study by a neurologist is advisable.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will be making one more adjustment to the hydrogen age when a Senate committee approves a bill to use American armed forces in the Middle East if a Communist attack occurs there.

On the surface this expected congressional approval — with no attack in sight — will hardly be more than a psychological effort by this government to discourage communism from open aggression by warning it ahead of time. But it goes deeper.

It hits the heart of these two questions:

1. How can a democracy, with its slow and open processes, protect itself against a dictatorship which can make sudden secret decisions to begin a war with hydrogen bombs big enough to bring quick victory?

2. How can a democracy, searching for a way to protect itself by acting and reacting with utmost speed in an emergency, avoid getting into some coloration of a dictatorship?

It smacks a little of dictatorship when a nation not only becomes more secretive but, out of sheer need for speed in crisis, entrusts the mostateful decisions to one man or a handful of men.

When this country was still isolated by oceans from sudden and direct attack by the big overseas powers, Congress could afford time to debate the question of war. Now there's no time for it.

If Russia began a hydrogen attack, the President, under his constitutional powers as commander in chief, would have to order instant retaliation on Russia by American bombers based overseas. He could not do otherwise, nor would Congress want him to.

But the problems of the future may not be so simple as a direct attack on the United States. There may be various forms of Communist aggression which, if not stopped promptly, might mean chuck Red victory and erosion of other people's will to resist.

It is in this area of the unknown that the democratic problems is the sharpest:

How can Congress retain its control over the ability of one man, the President, to pull a trigger which puts this country into war while yet, for the nation's sake, leaving him free to make such a decision if he thinks necessary in an emergency?

What is happening now — a grant of standby authority from Congress to Eisenhower to use as he thinks best — is the most recent example of the attempt to solve the new democratic dilemma?

Librarians Find Choice of Bookmarks Varied

What's your preference in books?

Perhaps you'd like to read the letters of a present-day teenager.

Or if you're interested in education, you might enjoy reading composition papers by elementary school students.

Maybe you'd like to open a book and find money.

Or possibly, there's not hing you'd like better in a book than a little bread and jam.

AS A MATTER of fact, almost any taste can be satisfied by the books that come back to the Carnegie Public Library here, Mrs. P. M. Cook, the librarian, reports. People use almost everything for bookmarks.

"I guess we get more letters than anything else," Mrs. Cook said, adding "children's composition papers are another favorite."

Matchbooks come in, too, she added, along with bills, a lot of already-opened mail and, occasionally, money.

Sometimes, these things are used for bookmarks and sometimes they are just stuck inside the book, Mrs. Cook said. Almost anything that fits has been used for a bookmark at one time or another, she agreed.

WHAT DOES THE library do with these unrequested items?

"Well, we try not to get them," Mrs. Cook said. "We usually glance at the book while the borrower is still in the library to make sure there isn't anything bulging inside it."

"If we find anything important, we try to return it. If it's a letter, we'll call the person whose name is on it. If he wants it mailed, we'll mail it—but sometimes they just don't want those letters mailed!"

"We can trace children's composition papers through names on them. Sometimes, we can trace pictures by the people in his sake, but I too am all jittery inside."

For all her experiences, Mrs. Cook can't remember anything quite like what happened to a librarian in Bethlehem, N. Y., whose experience seems to stand supreme in bookmark annals.

The girl found a cold fried egg.

Mary Haworth's Mail

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband, under 40, recently was promoted to a very responsible job, and now at home eats very little and sighs aloud, indicating the job is on his mind. I try to appear calm and collected for his sake, but I too am all jittery inside.

He feels he isn't capable of the job—and has felt the same, in a milder way, about each past promotion. He feels, too, that he lacks the education to back him up, as he never finished college. Yet he is conscientious and applies himself, and all his workers like and respect him; and his superiors have faith in him.

His immediate superior encourages him, and also spoke to me about it, saying Bill doesn't know his own capability. So how can I help him gain self-confidence? And is it possible he may fail, for lack of it?

Bill says he would have been happy to stay where he was, knowing what he was doing, earning a nice salary, feeling secure; and that he may fall flat on his face in this job—"and then what?" he asks, "after so many years in the company?"

I said I'm not worried about this happening; he is just getting started and should give himself a chance. He can learn much from actual experience on the job.

E. G.

DEAR E. G.: At the heart of almost every inspiring "success story" of human achievement, you will find that the responsible individuals had learned, at some point in their experience to take God into account, as the unseen partner—in the sense that Jesus taught, when He said: "It is not I but the Father in me, He doeth the work." And again when He said: "I and the Father are one."

In short, the wise person intuitively feels the truth: that we are "all fountains in the lake," as someone has said; that we are individualized outlets, so to speak, for the eternal "becoming" of the everlasting inexhaustible Creator without whose "life" in us we wouldn't exist at all. Through us, if we are willing disciples, God expresses ever more of "the abundant (good) life"—of which He is the source.

The wise man knows that we don't operate exclusively on our own powers, and that we aren't confined to our human limitations, exactly, in meeting the tests that life presents us. Rather we are potential "channels of a Higher Power," and we may transcend our personal heritage, and achieve more than we had supposed we could, if we "get ourselves out of the way," and let the Partner

What's your preference in books? Perhaps you'd like to read the letters of a present-day teenager. Or if you're interested in education, you might enjoy reading composition papers by elementary school students.

Maybe you'd like to open a book and find money.

Or possibly, there's nothing you'd like better in a book than a little bread and jam.

AS A MATTER of fact, almost any taste can be satisfied by the books that come back to the Carnegie Public Library here, Mrs. P. M. Cook, the librarian, reports. People use almost everything for bookmarks.

What's Really the Matter With Hollywood Marriage?

Editor's Note: Hollywood boosters claim there is no more divorce there than in other communities, but the list of multiple marriages by movie stars seems to refute that. What is the true situation? The matter is treated in the following article, first of three by Bob Thomas.

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — What's the matter with movie marriages?

You hear that each time a new Hollywood divorce hits the news, the issue is raised more in other localities rather than the roving town itself. Here, divorce is so much a part of the local scene that it is taken as a matter of course.

Many of the town's boosters will tell you there is no more divorce in Hollywood than in any other community in America.

"There appears to be more divorce because the spotlight is on people here," said a leading citizen. "I imagine there is more divorce than there would be among any other group of persons of like income and living conditions."

There is no practical way to make a comparison. Certainly the nation's divorce rate is alarming. And certainly there are many one-marriage stars — James Stewart, Bob Hope, Burt Lancaster, Joel McCrea, Rosalind Russell, Ann Blyth, etc.

But take a list at the multiple marriages of some others:

Five — Hedy Lamarr, Clark Gable (once a widower), Gloria Swanson.

Four — Rita Hayworth, Mickey Rooney, Lana Turner, Myrna Loy, Jackie Coogan, Ginger Rogers, Ettie Davis (once a widow), William Boyd, Constance Bennett.

Two — Frank Sinatra, Jennifer Jones, Betty Grable, Eleanor Parker, Tyrone Power, Loretta Young, Ingrid Bergman, Robert Taylor, Barbara Stanwyck, Jack Webb, Olivia De Havilland, Terry Moore, Esther Williams, Jane

"I guess we get more letters than anything else," Mrs. Cook said, adding "children's composition papers are another favorite."

Matchbooks come in, too, she added, along with bills, a lot of already-opened mail and, occasionally, money.

Sometimes, these things are used for bookmarks and sometimes they are just stuck inside the book, Mrs. Cook said. Almost nothing that fits has been used for a bookmark at one time or another, she agreed.

WHAT DOES the library do with these unrequested items? "Well, we try not to get them," Mrs. Cook said. "We usually glance at the book while the borrower is still in the library to make sure there isn't anything bulging inside it."

"If we find anything important, we try to return it. If it's a letter, we'll call the person whose name is on it. If he wants it mailed, we'll mail it—but sometimes they just don't want those letters mailed!"

"We can trace children's composition papers through names on them. Sometimes, we can trace pictures by the people in the book."

For all her experiences, Mrs. Cook can't remember anything quite like what happened to a librarian in Bethlehem, N. Y., whose experience seems to stand supreme in bookmark annals.

The girl found a cold fried egg.

Powell, Doris Day, Linda Darnell, Elizabeth Taylor (the latter two expecting to try again shortly).

Psychologists, lawyers and other observers of Hollywood mores suggest other reasons why more strains are placed on filmland marriages than normal ones:

1. Actors are emotional people. Their work consists of dealing with emotions, and this often does not provide the stability for dealing with marriage. They may seek divorce in a flight of temperament, regret it later.

2. Actors are attractive people, other class of workers has so much opportunity for extra-marital dalliance.

3. When an actor and actress marry, they are inevitably in conflict with each other's career. If the husband achieves more success, the wife often resents it. If the wife becomes more famous, it is usually fatal for the marriage.

4. The advent of fame and fortune places strains on a marriage. Many film couples married during their struggling days, then found themselves thrust into the spotlight. Often stardom makes them different people, and they grow apart.

5. Stars live in a goldfish bowl. A cross word spoken in public can become a front page headline. Gossips are alert to report rifts, often before they happen. This can create an atmosphere of doubt and suspicion, which can be deadly for a marriage.

Troy Jury Picked In Fatal Shooting

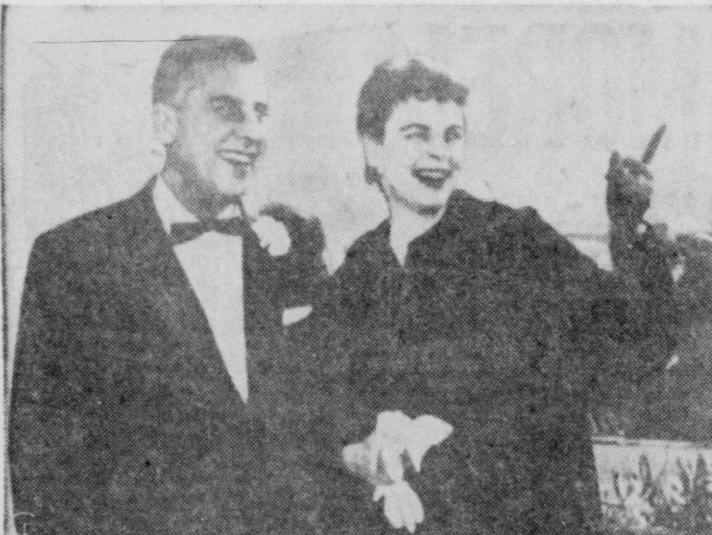

TROY — A jury of 8 men and 4 women has been selected for the first degree murder trial of Dow Johnson Jr., 27, of Troy.

Johnson, indicted by the Miami County grand jury, is charged in the fatal shooting of Douglas W. Miller, 29, also of Troy.

Police said Johnson found Miller on the night of October 24 in a tavern with Johnson's estranged wife, Lucy, 19. He shot Miller six times and his wife twice as she attempted to flee, police said.

Johnson's wife has since recovered from her wounds.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband, under 40, recently was promoted to a very responsible job, and now at home he eats very little and sighs aloud, indicating the job is on his mind. I try to appear calm and collected for his sake, but I too am all jittery inside.

He feels he isn't capable of the job—and has felt the same, in a milder way, about each past promotion. He feels, too, that he lacks the education to back him up, as he never finished college. Yet he is conscientious and applies himself, and all his workers like and respect him; and his superiors have faith in him.

His immediate superior encourages him, and also spoke to me about it, saying Bill doesn't know his own capability. So how can I help him gain self-confidence? And is it possible he may fail, for lack of it?

Bill says he would have been happy to stay where he was, knowing what he was doing, earning a nice salary, feeling secure; and that he may fall flat on his face in this job—"and then what," he asks, "after so many years with the company?"

I said I'm not worried about this happening; he is just getting started and should give himself a chance. He can learn much from actual experience on the job.

DEAR E. G.: At the heart of almost every inspiring "success story" of human achievement, you will find that the responsible individuals had learned, at some point in their experience, to take God into account, as the unseen partner—in the sense that Jesus taught, when He said: "It is not I but the Father in me, He doeth the work." And again when He said: "I and the Father are one."

In short, the wise person intuitively feels the truth: that we are "all fountains in the lake," as someone has said; that we are individualized outlets, so to speak, for the eternal "becoming" of the everlasting inexhaustible Creator without whose "life" in us we wouldn't exist at all. Through us, if we are willing disciples, God expresses ever more of "the abundant (good) life"—of which He is the source.

The wise man knows that we don't operate exclusively on our own powers, and that we aren't confined to our human limitations, exactly, in meeting the tests that life presents us. Rather we are potential channels of a Higher Power; and we may transcend our personal heritage, and achieve more than we had supposed we could, if we "get ourselves out of the way," and let the Partner

Tiffin Hospital Director Is Fired

COLUMBUS (AP)—The superintendent of Tiffin State Hospital Tuesday announced dismissal of his $1,291-a-month clinical director, Dr. H. Kenneth Moir, a former superintendent at Massillon State Hospital.

The superintendent's notice of removal, filed with the state civil service commission, was accompanied by a blistering letter which said in part that he had received "numerous complaints from citizens and business people in Tiffin which have resulted in the most embarrassing situation that I have ever been subjected to as superintendent of the hospital. It has necessitated my making numerous apologies." (Dr. Moir) behalf."

'Monday Holiday' Bill Gets Backing

COLUMBUS (AP)—Sen. Ross Pepple (R-Allen), has drawn the backing of Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-McKinley), for making major holidays fall on Monday.

Carney, a staff representative of the Steel Workers Union, said enactment of the proposal would cut absenteeism.

Pepple's proposal would make the third Monday in February "President's Day" for the observance of the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln. The last Monday in May would be Memorial Day.

Shepherds Class Meets at LeMaster Home

The Shepherds Bible Class of First Baptist Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manford LeMaster for their annual pot-luck supper. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. LeMaster in the hospitalities were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Burchfield, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dewees and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Chaney.

Following the delightful supper hour the president, Mrs. Raymond Burchfield, presided over the meeting opening with an article "The Things for Which I Thank Thee Lord," and closing with prayer.

Several projects for the year were presented to the class and twenty-five members responded to roll call. Mrs. Lora Penwell was elected secretary of the class with Mrs. Kenneth Chaney serving as corresponding secretary, and the business meeting was closed by the class members praying together the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Lewis B. Rogers presented the class with a number of books from the library of the late Rev. L. B. Rogers, who for many years was teacher of the class. Also a picture of Rev. Rogers was given to each member present.

Mrs. Richard McLean, devotional leader, read from the Sixth Chapter of Matthew, and chose as her topic "Deeds of Righteousness." She read an interesting article entitled "Brother John," which stressed the responsibilities of Christians. "New Year's Psalm," was read by Mrs. McLean and the meeting was closed with prayer.

Cornwell Home Is Scene of DAR Meeting

Due to the inclement weather, only twelve members attended the regular meeting of the Martha Washington Chapter of the Daughters of American Revolution, Monday evening.

Mrs. Ronald Cornwell was hostess for the meeting at her home, and in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Dean Powell gave the roll call and a report was heard on the Children of America Revolution Chapter by Mrs. Richard Rankin. A report was also given by Mrs. Cornwell concerning the old cemetery in this city, which is a project of chapter and plans were made to further this work.

Following adjournment of the short session, Mrs. John McCadden gave a very interesting talk on the wife of each President of the United States and showed colored slides of each one in their favorite dress.

Mrs. Cornwell served delicious refreshments during the social hour with the assistance of Mrs. Richard Rankin, Miss Helen Hutson and Mrs. Byron Hinton.

Ohio Governor Asks Clerics To Aid in Anti-Vice Drive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Gov. C. O'Neill T. Esday night enlisted the aid of Ohio's churches in schools will come up for final consideration at a meeting of the convention's resolution committee.

In a brief talk at the fellowship banquet of the 38th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention here, the governor said the churches' help is needed to keep out "commercial forces of vice that are seeking to enter the state."

He shared the speaker's platform with Dr. Louis H. Evans, minister-at-large for the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Dr. Evans told the audience of a "restlessness" he has detected in the world today. The restlessness, "it is not a revival yet . . . just a drift, perhaps," he said is toward "some strange gods."

Willing To Help Class Meets At Dellinger Home

The January meeting of the Willing To Help Class of McNair Memorial Church was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Howard Dellinger.

Mrs. Clifford Foster, devotional leader, read Scripture taken from the Second Chapter of Matthew and she also read a very interesting article written by Herbert Cornell entitled "The Star That Led the Wise Men to the Infant Jesus." Mrs. Foster closed the devotionals with prayer.

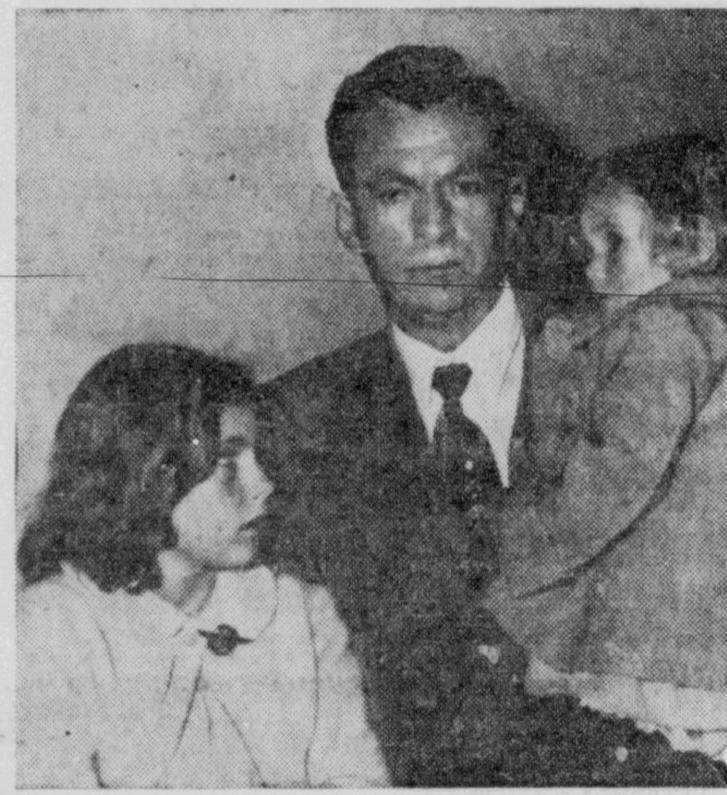

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Naomi Reif, and a very gratifying report was given by the treasurer, Mrs. Howard Dellinger. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. John Schiller and samples of the new Christmas cards were on display by the committee, Mrs. Ed Richardson, Mrs. Ted Long and Mrs. Homer Scott.

Members decided to have their Sunshine Bags again this year and the meeting adjourned with the class benediction. Following this a clever contest was conducted with prizes awarded to Mrs. Ted Long and Mrs. Naomi Reif.

During the period of informal visiting, delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Dellinger and one guest was included, little Miss Lorina Jo Reif.

The next meeting will be held February 26 at the home of Mrs. Frank Dellinger.

Cornwell Home Is Scene of DAR Meeting

Due to the inclement weather, only twelve members attended the regular meeting of the Martha Washington Chapter of the Daughters of American Revolution, Monday evening.

Mrs. Ronald Cornwell was hostess for the meeting at her home, and in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Dean Powell gave the roll call and a report was heard on the Children of America Revolution Chapter by Mrs. Richard Rankin. A report was also given by Mrs. Cornwell concerning the old cemetery in this city, which is a project of chapter and plans were made to further this work.

Following adjournment of the short session, Mrs. John McFadden gave a very interesting talk on the wife of each President of the United States and showed colored slides of each one in their favorite dress.

Mrs. Cornwell served delicious refreshments during the social hour with the assistance of Mrs. Richard Rankin, Miss Helen Huston and Mrs. Byron Hinton.

Personals

Mrs. Hughey Backenstoe of the Jamestown Rd. visited the past week end at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Campbell, Mr. Campbell and family in Dayton, and her son, Mr. Hughey Backenstoe, Mrs. Backenstoe and family, also in Dayton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Pierson have returned from a three weeks vacation in Florida. While visiting Indian Rock Beach they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rozell and Mrs. Myrtle Durham. In Clearwater, they stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Powell and also visited Daytona Beach.

Goodyear Aide Cited

AKRON (P) — Dr. Karl Arnstein, retiring Friday as vice president in charge of engineering of the Goodyear Aircraft Corp., was honored by 450 fellow employees at a dinner Tuesday night.

Ohio Governor Asks Clerics To Aid in Anti-Vice Drive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P) — Gov. William O'Neill Tuesday night enlisted the aid of Ohio's churches to keep big time gambling out of the state.

In a brief talk at the fellowship banquet of the 38th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention here, the governor said the churches' help is needed to keep out "commercial forces of vice that are seeking to enter the state."

He shared the speaker's platform with Dr. Louis H. Evans, minister-at-large for the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

Dr. Evans told the audience of a "restlessness" he has detected in the world today. The restlessness, "it is not a revival yet . . . just a drift, perhaps," he said is toward "some strange gods."

Among them, he listed five "isms" — positivism, relativism, militarism, doubtism and humanism.

A "ROLLING SKIRT" SILHOUETTE was chosen for this Chantilly lace dress in fiesta red, designed by Oleg Cassini. Inverted pleats are stitched at top and bottom for the roll effect in the skirt. Red silk satin bands circle the high bosom line and are buttoned at the sides. The model will have a long and busy life as it is appropriate for many occasions, both semi-formal and formal.

Tuesday Club Meets with Mrs. Tipton

Mrs. Forest F. Tipton was hostess Tuesday afternoon to members of the Tuesday Kensington Club, when they met at her home.

Mrs. John Morton assisted Mrs. Tipton in the serving of a delicious dessert course from the dining room table during the early part of the afternoon, and later the ladies enjoyed their needlework and informal visiting completed the afternoon get-together.

Benson Sees Godlessness As Big Evil

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson appealed Tuesday night for continued "hopes and prayers" that a time will come "when the lands of oppression and their satellites turn to freedom and join with us and the free nations in building a better world."

Benson, talking at the annual Religion-in-Life Week at Ohio State University, said that "Godless men and women have seized power over one-third of the world's peoples."

"Faith in moral principles has been ruthlessly ridiculed and stripped of dignity," he said, adding, "the latest outrage is Hungary."

Benson said "tremendous forces" are at work to convince people that government should replace individual initiative.

"Such a philosophy," he declared, "can only result in the shackling of man's liberties, in the eventual destruction of his freedom."

Benson branded as false the notion that man's faith in God can be destroyed by academic knowledge.

"It is not the search for knowledge, nor knowledge itself, that costs man his faith. It is rather the conceit of small minds proving anew that a little knowledge can be a dangerous thing . . . Science sees truth, and true religion is truth . . . Truth is truth whether labelled science or religion," he said.

Navy Recruiter Seeks Men Who Served on Arizona

If there are any former officers or enlisted personnel in this community who served aboard the U.S. Battleship Arizona, which was sunk in Pearl Harbor when the Japs attacked Hawaii on Dec. 7, 1941, Chief Philip G. Lee of the Navy would like for them to get in touch with him.

The first reunion of the Arizona crew has been scheduled for March 2 at Jack Kennedy Center, Naval Base Terminal Island, Long Beach, Calif., and Chief Lee said he can supply the details to any who want to attend.

Chief Lee is in charge of Navy recruiting here now. His headquarters are in the American Legion Hall, 212 N. Fayette St.

The reunion, Chief Lee said, is for all personnel who served on the Arizona from the time of commissioning to Pearl Harbor Day, and widows and relatives of the men who were lost at Pearl Harbor.

That part of the Arizona's superstructure which projects above the water of Pearl Harbor serves as a memorial to those who died there.

Camp Fire Girls Seeking 'Pen Pals' in Sweden

Letters from Sweden should be pouring in on the Tonawanda Camp Fire Girls just any day now.

The club members have arranged for pen pals in Sweden, and it was reported at the regular meeting that the girls should hear from them some time this month.

Phyllis Wallace, the president, conducted the meeting. Fay Williams gave a secretary's report and Karen Woodmansee gave a treasurer's report.

The meeting was opened with the Lord's Prayer and the Camp Fire Laws.

The club leaders, Mrs. Robert Woodmansee and Mrs. Robert Wallace, are buying stationery so the girls may correspond with their Swedish pen pals, it was announced.

Refreshments were served by Jeri Anderson.

Wagner Makes Appeal To Save Roads

Don't Load Too Heavily, Engineer Tells Truckers

County Engineer Charles P. Wagner said, do "tremendous damage in breaking up the roads."

"ALL THE QUARRIES have been contacted, and they have assured us they will cooperate," Wagner declared, but he explained that it would be impossible to get in touch, personally, with all truck owners and drivers.

The sheriff's department also has been notified, to pass along the word of the reduced load and speed limits.

Wagner made this appeal as he and Joe Merritt of the engineer's staff, and County Commissioner Robert Cockerill left Tuesday for Chicago to attend the annual show of the American Road Builders' Assn., which lasts through Saturday.

The show features the latest types of modern road building equipment, Wagner said the Fayette Countians were interested in looking over the equipment and also in talking over with other engineers new methods of road construction.

HOPKINS DIVORCE ACTION TO BE HEARD THURSDAY

Subpoenas have been issued for 16 witnesses here for Thursday's hearing of Edwards A. Hopkins' suit for divorce from Carolyn E. Hopkins in Common Pleas Court here before Judge William Radcliff of Pickaway County, sitting by assignment.

Hopkins filed his suit for divorce on June 26, 1956, on grounds of cruelty. He asked that Mrs. Hopkins be barred from any, and all, interest, including dower or otherwise, in his real estate and personal property.

Mrs. Hopkins said in her answer, filed June 29, that she and Hopkins are owners of certain real estate, stocks, bonds, and other property and denied the allegation of cruelty in the divorce petition. She said that she has been occupying the residence at 542 Washington Ave. during her married life. She asked that the divorce petition be dismissed.

In his reply on July 2, Hopkins denied Mrs. Hopkins has any interest in, of ownership, jointly or otherwise, of the residence, real estate or personal property.

Judge John P. Case of the Common Pleas Court here disqualified himself on July 21 and Judge Radcliff was assigned by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court to hear the case.

Mrs. Hopkins, on Sept. 15, filed a cross-petition seeking temporary and permanent alimony, but it was later dismissed by Judge Radcliff on motion of Hopkins.

Hopkins is represented by Attorney Paul M. Herbert of Columbus and Reed M. Winegardner of Washington C. H. Mrs. Hopkins is represented by Attorney Frank Collony of Columbus and a native of Fayette County, and Attorney John Chester of Columbus.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED

Mary Catherine Workman, Route 4, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court here for divorce from Glendale Earl Workman on grounds of neglect and cruelty. She also asks custody of their five minor children and alimony. They were married in 1949 at Greenup, Ky.

Labor Union Sets Sights On Deep South

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO is reportedly considering spending $7 million over a three-year period to convince Southern workers they should join labor unions.

Television, radio, newspapers and billboards would be used to plug the values of union membership in an area AFL-CIO unions have found hard to organize.

At the AFL-CIO Executive Council's current winter session, it was decided to leave more detailed plans to a public relations committee headed by a council member, President William C. Bright, of the barbers union.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, has spoken favorably of the plan. He maintains labor organizations will continue to have troubles organizing in Dixie until workers learn, he said, that unions can help improve pay and work standards and that they have no other motive.

The council's session was recessed today while members attended a closed meeting of the Committee on Political Education, the AFL-CIO political organization. A rehash of COPE's activities in the 1956 political campaign was in prospect.

Jack Kroll, codirector of COPE with James L. McDevitt, prepared to submit his resignation at the meeting. Nearly 72, Kroll said he would continue as vice president in the Cincinnati area.

4-H Club Activities

MAGIC MAKERS

The 4-H Magic Makers met at the home of Mrs. Billie Wilson. An election of officers was held with the following results:

President - Juliania Wilson; vice president - Nancy Dray; secretary - Barbara Cahall; treasurer - Linda Lucas; news reporter - Marilyn Dougherty; recreation leader - Linda Cahall.

Appointed officers are: program chairman - Betty Clarke; safety leader - Hannah Case; safety leader - Pam R. Hoads; pledge leader - Elizabeth Henry; photographer - Sally Louder; constitution writer - Mary Ann Barr.

It was decided that dues should be 10 cents and the meetings will be held on the first and third Tuesdays every month. Next week we will meet at Mrs. Wilson's and fill Heart Fund packets for Miss Marion Moore to distribute to her workers.

The club members will also canvass Elmwood Addition on Heart Sunday.

Projects were discussed with club advisors, Mrs. Billie Wilson and Mrs. William Clarke, and the girls decided what their projects for this year will be. Refreshments were served by Juliania Wilson.

Pro Football Draft Dates Back 24 Years

Minnesota Fullback's Holdout Recalled as Trigger to New Plan

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The refusal of a Minnesota fullback to sign with the Philadelphia Eagles some 24 years ago fathered the National Football League draft.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell, then owner, coach, ticket seller, usher and water boy of the Eagles, devised the system known as the pro player draft.

Bell told the story as he prepared to hang the gavel for Thursday's opening of the 26th edition of the NFL draft.

"In 1933, I telephoned Stanley Kostka, a Minnesota back in Minneapolis. I asked him point blank if he would sign with the Eagles if I came out there and offered him a contract for more money than anyone else in the league would give him. He said yes.

"So, in the situation, I went to Minneapolis. We met in a hotel. I asked him how much he had been offered by other clubs. He told me the top was $3,500. I'll give you $4,000," I told him.

"But Kostka hemmed and hawed, said he had to think it over, give my offer more serious consideration. I told him to take an hour to make up his mind. Actually, in the situation, I knew what was on his mind. He wanted to get to a telephone and call the club (Brooklyn) which had offered him $3,500 to see if they'd top my offer.

"Actually, he couldn't make the connection, because when he came back, he still hadn't made up his mind. I told him, look, I'll give you $6,000 if you'll sign now, and let me go home. He hedged. So I left."

Bell said he thought about the Kostka case all the way home. "I made up my mind that this league would never survive unless we had some system whereby each team had an even chance to bid for talent against the other."

So, at the 1934 league meeting Bell introduced the player draft proposal and after long debate it was adopted to become effective for the 1936 season.

"The draft" says Bell, "was the greatest thing that ever happened to the NFL. Over the years it had brought balance to the league."

The commissioner said that because of this equal distribution of strength, the NFL since 1935 has attained record attendance figures in eight of the 11 years. He goes on to point out that whereas between 1933 and 1945, the Giants, Bears and Packers won the title nine times among them, almost every team has had a crack at it since. He figures it took 10 years for the draft to equalize the talent.

No Contender In Sight To Test Tarheels

NEW YORK (AP) — By the time the top-ranked North Carolina Tarheels get back into the Atlantic Coast Conference swing — and that's still a week away — their main search may be for a contender of any sort, let alone one that has a chance for 'tite time.

Duke's loss to Wake Forest Tuesday night, 77-58, left unheralded Maryland closest to the unbeaten Tarheels, who've accounted for six of their 15 season victories in league play. Maryland is 6-2 followed by Duke 4-2 and Wake Forest 3-2. Not another team in the league has lost fewer than four games.

North Carolina State, usually the team to beat, has dropped five while picking up only two victories — the second of which was an 80-63 romp over Virginia Tuesday night.

Louisville, ranked third in the new Associated Press poll, defeated Loyola of the South 79-53. St. Louis broke a 10-year jinx by downing Oklahoma A&M 49-45. West Virginia fattened its Southern Conference lead by defeating Virginia Tech 59-54. Oklahoma City routed New Mexico 107-86, and Notre Dame whipped Indiana 94-82 in other college features.

Lane Is Favored To Defeat Ryff

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Kenny Lane and Frankie Ryff, two of the nation's leading lightweights, battle tonight in a nationally televised (10:30 p.m. EST) 10-rounder with Lane in particular looking to the title as a possible stepping stone to a title match.

"If I get by this fight with flying colors," says Lane, southpaw from Muskegon, Mich., "I'll stand a good chance of a title shot." Lane currently is rated the No. 2 behind champ Joe Brown.

Lane, who won his last 10 fights and boasts an over-all 45- record, is an 8-5 favorite. Ryff has a 21-3 mark.

"Apparently, he couldn't make the connection, because when he came back, he still hadn't made up his mind. I told him, look, I'll give you $6,600 if you'll sign now and let me go home. He hedged. So I left."

Bell said he thought about the Kostka case all the way home, "I made up my mind that this league would never survive unless we had some system whereby each team had an even chance to bid for talent against the other."

So, at the 1934 league meeting Bell introduced the player draft proposal and after long debate it was adopted to become effective for the 1936 season.

"The draft" says Bell, "was the greatest thing that ever happened to the NFL. Over the years it had brought balance to the league."

The commissioner said that because of this equal distribution of strength, the NFL since 1945 has attained record attendance figures eight of the 11 years. He goes on to point out that whereas between 1933 and 1945, the Giants, Bears and Packers won the title nine times among them, almost every team has had a crack at it since. He figures it took 10 years for the draft to equalize the talent.

No Contender In Sight To Test Tarheels

NEW YORK — By the time the top-ranked North Carolina Tarheels get back into the Atlantic Coast Conference swing — and that's still a week away — their main search may be for a contender of any sort, let alone one that has a chance for 't'le title.

Duke's loss to Wake Forest Tuesday night, 77-59, left unheralded Maryland closest to the unbeaten Tarheels, who've accounted for six of their 15 season victories in league play. Maryland is 6-2 followed by Duke 4-2 and Wake Forest 3-2. Not another team in the league has lost fewer than four games.

North Carolina State, usually the team to beat, has dropped five while picking up only two victories — the second of which was an 80-63 romp over Virginia Tuesday night.

Louisville, ranked third in the new Associated Press poll, defeated Loyola of the South 79-53. St. Louis broke a 10-year jinx by downing Oklahoma A&M 49-45. West Virginia fattened its Southern Conference lead by defeating Virginia Tech 59-54. Oklahoma City routed New Mexico 107-86, and Notre Dame whipped Indiana 94-82 in other college features.

Lane Is Favored To Defeat Ryff

NORFOLK, Va. — Kenny Lane and Frankie Ryff, two of the nation's leading lightweights, battle tonight in a nationally televised (10:30 p. m. EST) 10-rounder with Lane in particular looking to the bout as a possible stepping stone to a title match.

"If I get by this fight with flying colors," says Lane, a southpaw from Muskegon, Mich., "I'll stand a good chance of a title shot." Lane currently is rated the No. 2 behind champ Joe Brown.

Lane, who won his last 10 fights and boasts an over-all 45-45 record, is an 8-5 favorite. Ryff has a 21-3 mark.

IN MEMORY OF ALBERT RILEY
Dearest loved ones I have left you.
Yes! I had to go away
For my work on earth was done
So there was no use to stay.

Oh! I know I left you sudden,
But they needed me in heaven,
So God took me by the hand.

I am traveling down that valley towards the setting of the sun.
Where we go to meet our Savior
When our work on earth is done.

So good-by to all my loved ones
I am far beyond the blue.
Please do not mourn about me
For I wouldn't want you to.

As you travel down that valley
When your work on earth is done
I'll be somewhere there awaiting to meet you one by one.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT

Lions Get Report On Plow Matches

Members of the Washington C. H. Lions Club, at their regular meeting Tuesday evening in the Country Club, were told of the importance of state, national and world plowing matches.

Robert Minshall, a member of the club and a past president, took the members with him by way of color slides to Europe. The trip was actually made last October when he, with a group of nineteen, flew to the World Plowing Matches held near Oxford, England. Other coun-

Seal Reminders Mailed; Still Time To Help!

Letters reminding it still is not too late to make a contribution for those Christmas Seals were going out today to around 400 people who had contributed in the past, but not this year.

This was disclosed by Mrs. Jan Stephens, executive-secretary of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Assn., as she left for Columbus to attend a three-day conference of full-time executive-secretaries from all over Ohio. The conference, sponsored by the Ohio Tuberculosis and Health Assn., is being held in Lincoln Lodge, on W. Broad St.

The tuberculosis and health associations finance their fight against tuberculosis and for better health with money from the sale of Christmas Seals.

Mrs. Stephens said that as of Tuesday, contributions of $5,140 had come in for the seals this year. This was not only short of the $5,425 goal for the sale, but also short of the previous year's sale of $5,215.

MRS. STEPHENS gave no indication of the time when the sale here will be closed officially, but she said there is still hope that the reminders now going out may bring in contributions reaching last year's total. She expressed doubt that the quota for this year's sale would be reached.

The conference this week in Columbus, Mrs. Stephens said, is primarily to plan for future Christmas Seal sales and a program of service by tuberculosis and health groups. Problems faced by the full-time executive-secretaries throughout the state are to be discussed.

Bearded Bandits Get $300, Gun in Lake Cowan Holdup

WILMINGTON — Two heavily bearded men held up a carry-out store at Lake Cowan late Tuesday and escaped with $300 from the cash register and a shotgun.

Mrs. Gus Clement, wife of the owner, and who was alone in the store, said the two men entered at 4:20 p.m., both armed.

Sheriff Floyd Foote and Deputy Harold Hormel of Clinton County heard the robbery report on their way back from Mansfield, where they had taken some prisoners.

The sheriff, who said he had a description of the getaway automobile, still was investigating tonight.

Guard Suspended

COLUMBUS — Leland M. Youngblood, a guard at the London prison farm, has been on suspension since Thursday, the state Civil Service Commission announced. The suspension, for disciplinary reasons, will last 30 days.

Skid Row Death Case Confused

Contradictions Seen In Inquest Testimony

CHICAGO — Contradictions in a Skid Row derelict's confession that he and a companion killed the Grimes sisters were disclosed Tuesday at an inquest into the girls' deaths.

Medical evidence was reported by authorities to indicate the girls may have died within hours after their disappearance Dec. 28.

Edward (Bennie) Bedwell, illiterate 21-year-old Skid Row dishwasher, has confessed he and a man he knew only as Frank killed the Grimes sisters, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, on Jan. 13.

In the confession reported by Sheriff Joseph Lohman, Bedwell said he and Frank stripped the girls and dumped them in snowbank west of Chicago after they resisted their advances. The sisters' nude, frozen bodies were found on Jan. 22 near suburban Willow Springs.

Bedwell's confession related he and Frank had been with the sister a week, drinking with them in Skid Row bars and living with them in cheap hotels.

Survivors include his father, Charles; his wife, Mrs. Ann Palmer Clifton; two daughters, Georgia Ann and Mary Elizabeth; and one brother, Lt. Col. John Roger Clifton, of Huntsville, Ala.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in New Holland.

Continuing claims in a similar period increased from 66,492 to 69,497, the bureau reported. The average of new claims weekly during January last year was 13,126, and the average of weekly continuing claims was 50,642.

Friends may call at the funeral home after noon Thursday.

Charles Clifton Jr.

NEW HOLLAND — Charles Clifton, Jr., 44, died suddenly of a heart attack at his farm near New Holland Wednesday morning.

A farmer in this area most of his life, he resided at the time of his death on the New Holland-Good Hope road. He was born in that community.

Services for Benjamin Hargrave, 68, who died Tuesday in a Dayton hospital, will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Church of Christ, Bowerville.

Mr. Hargrave had been hospitalized a year and in failing health since 1945.

A retired farmer, he had lived in the Bowersville area all his life. His wife, the former Maud Mitchell, a Fayette County native, survives.

Other survivors include three children, Mrs. Elizabeth Long, Dayton, and Junior and Richard Hargrave of Bowersville; a brother, Luther, of Bowersville; and a sister, Mrs. Ora Stephen of Jamestown.

The Rev. Francis Reid will conduct the service. Burial will be in Jamestown Cemetery. Friends may call at the Powers Funeral Home, Jamestown, Friday afternoon or evening.

Brakefield Services

Services for Frank A. Brakefield were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Hook & Son Funeral Home under the direction of the Rev. L. J. Poe. Mr. Brakefield, 91, died Saturday.

Pallbearers were Frank Baker, George Baker, William Clark, Clyde Smith, Harold Sprague and Fred Johnson. Burial was in Washington Cemetery.

Palibearers were Charles, George, Carl, Earl, Hugh and James Rees and Dale Young.

Grady Services

Services for Mrs. Mary Rea were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Maple Grove Methodist Church, under the direction of the Rev. Ralph Yoss. Burial was in the Bloomingburg cemetery.

Palibearers were Charles, George, Carl, Earl, Hugh and James Rees and Dale Young.

Grady Services

Services for Mrs. Kathryn Florence Grady, 77, widow of Grant Grady, were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Parrett Funeral Home, with the Rev. Charles W. Ware, pastor of the Church of

Deaths and Funerals

Vern R. Day

SABINA — Vern R. Day, 76, a barber here for 60 years, died in his home, 59 E. Elm St., at 9 p.m. Tuesday after a brief illness. He had been at his shop on Howard St. regularly until two weeks ago.

Born in Mt. Orab, he had lived in Sabina since he was a youth. He was a member of the Methodist Church and a 50-year member of the Sabina Lodge of Masons.

He is survived by his wife, Cora Drake Day, and a son, Corwin Day, Route 3, Sabina. He also leaves two stepdaughters, Mrs. Mildred Pidgeon, Route 4, Wilmington, and Mrs. Mary Haines, Sabina; a stepson, Leo B. Snow, Sabina; four grandchildren and six grandchildren.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Friday in the Littleton Funeral Home, and burial will be in Sabina Cemetery.

Lions Get Report On Plow Matches

Members of the Washington C. H. Lions Club, at their regular meeting Tuesday evening in the Country Club, were told of the importance of state, national and world plowing matches.

Robert Minshall, a member of the club and a past president, took the members with him by way of color slides to Europe. The trip was actually made last October when he, with a group of nineteen, flew to the World Plowing Matches held near Oxford, England. Other countries visited were the Netherlands, Belgium and France.

The trip was in the interest of his company, the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. Minshall is a member of the program committee for the Sept. 17 to 20 world matches to be held at Peebles, Adams County, which will attract contestants from 20 states.

Minshall stated that thirteen countries had entries with two entrants from the United States at the Oxford matches. His detailed description of the trip along with the slides gave the 97 members an excellent idea of the oncoming event to be held near here next fall—the first time the world matches have ever been scheduled in this country.

NORRIS HIGHFIELD, program chairman introduced Minshall who, during his stay in Europe, visited with Highfield's son, Jack, a member of the Armed Forces stationed there.

President John Breiner was in charge of the meeting and made an urgent appeal for the members to donate blood at the next visit of the bloodmobile on Feb. 6.

Carl Mason was presented as a guest of Wilbur Wilson.

R. B. Tharp, chairman of the club's convention committee reported that the Lions International convention will be held in San Francisco June 26 to 29.

DON GIBSON praised the more than 50 members of the Good Hope club for the contribution they have made to their community during their first year. He reported they have progressed rapidly and are doing a real service for that area. The Good Hope club was sponsored by the Washington C. H. Club a year ago.

Dr. Charles Pfeissick, chairman of "A Day in Dodge City 1857," said the musical show will be held in Washington High School auditorium on Tuesday, Feb. 12, at 8:15 p. m. Rehearsals are being held twice a week, and some of the specialty acts are more often.

Usually the club presents a minstrel show but it is departing this year from the "down South" to the "Wild West" theme. Members of the club have tickets on sale and all proceeds will go to the club's Sight-Saving Fund. (A tip to the chairman is that the main character will be Wyatt Earp.)

Bearded Bandits Get $300, Gun in Lake Cowan Holdup

WILMINGTON — Two heavily bearded men held up a carry-out store at Lake Cowan late Tuesday and escaped with $300 from the cash register and a shotgun.

Mrs. Gus Clement, wife of the owner, and who was alone in the store, said the two men entered at 4:20 p. m., both armed.

Sheriff Floyd Foote and Deputy Harold Hormel of Clinton County heard the robbery report on their way back from Mansfield, where they had taken some prisoners.

The sheriff, who said he had a description of the getaway automobile, still was investigating tonight.

Enrollment Growing At WCH Sales Clinic

Interest in a series of morning sales clinics being conducted this year at the Fayette Theater is mounting steadily, William Stoughon, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reported Wednesday.

Attendance at the opening session Monday was 142. On Tuesday the attendance was 149 and there was 151 in Wednesday morning's class. This reverses the usual trend, according to Bob Smith, adult coordinator of the Ohio Department of Education's distribution of education services, who is conducting the classes.

The meetings are being sponsored by the Retail Merchants Assn., the Chamber of Commerce and the Washington C. H. Board of Education.

Many of the city's larger stores signed up their entire sales forces for the series of meetings, aimed at improving selling techniques.

The classes for salespeople will close Thursday, but managers, supervisors and key personnel will attend a class in "Human Relations" Friday morning.

Skid Row Death Case Confused

Contradictions Seen In Inquest Testimony

CHICAGO (P) — Contradictions in a Skid Row derelict's confession that he and a companion killed the Grimes sisters were disclosed Tuesday at an inquest into the girls' deaths.

Medical evidence was reported by authorities to indicate the girls may have died within hours after their disappearance Dec. 28.

Edward (Bennie) Bedwell, illiterate 21-year-old Skid Row dishwasher, has confessed he and a man he knew only as Frank killed the Grimes sisters, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, on Jan. 13.

In the confession reported by Sheriff Joseph Lohman, Bedwell said he and Frank stripped the girls and dumped them in a snowbank west of Chicago after they resisted their advances. The sisters' nude, frozen bodies were found on Jan. 22 near suburban Willow Springs.

Bedwell's confession related he and Frank had been with the sisters a week, drinking with them in Skid Row bars and living with them in cheap hotels.

Survivors include his father, Charles; his wife, Mrs. Ann Palmer Clifton; two daughters, Georgia Ann and Mary Elizabeth; and one brother, Lt. Col. John Roger Clifton, of Huntsville, Ala.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in New Holland.

Deaths and Funerals

Vern R. Day

SABINA — Vern R. Day, 76, a barber here for 60 years, died in his home, 59 E. Elm St., at 9 p. m. Tuesday after a brief illness. He had been at his shop on Howard St. regularly until two weeks ago.

Born in Mt. Orab, he had lived in Sabina since he was a youth. He was a member of the Methodist Church and a 50-year member of the Sabina Lodge of Masons.

He is survived by his wife, Cora Drake Day, and a son, Corwin Day, Route 3, Sabina. He also leaves two stepdaughters, Mrs. Mildred Pidgeon, Route 4, Wilmington, and Mrs. Mary Haines, Sabina; a stepson, Leo B. Snow, Sabina; four grandchildren and six stepgrandchildren.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Friday in the Littleton Funeral Home, and burial will be in Sabina Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after noon Thursday.

Charles Clifton Jr.

NEW HOLLAND — Charles Clifton, Jr., 44, died suddenly of a heart attack at his farm near New Holland Wednesday morning.

A farmer in this area most of his life, he resided at the time of his death on the New Holland-Good Hope road. He was born in that community.

Survivors include his father, Charles; his wife, Mrs. Ann Palmer Clifton; two daughters, Georgia Ann and Mary Elizabeth; and one brother, Lt. Col. John Roger Clifton, of Huntsville, Ala.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in New Holland.

Benjamin Hargrave

Services for Benjamin Hargrave, 68, who died Tuesday in a Dayton hospital, will be at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Church of Christ, Bowersville.

Mr. Hargrave had been hospitalized a year and in failing health since 1945.

A retired farmer, he had lived in the Bowersville area all his life. His wife, the former Maud Mitchell, a Fayette County native, survives.

The Rev. Francis Reid will conduct the service. Burial will be in Jamestown Cemetery. Friends may call at the Powers Funeral Home, Jamestown, Friday afternoon or evening.

Brakefield Services

Services for Frank A. Brakefield were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the Hook & Son Funeral Home under the direction of the Rev. L. J. Poe. Mr. Brakefield, 91, died Saturday.

Pallbearers were Frank Baker, George Baker, William Clark, Clyde Smith, Harold Sprague and Fred Johnson. Burial was in Washington Cemetery.

Pathologists have reported they did not find marks of violence on the girls' faces.

Rea Services

Services for Mrs. Mary Rea were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the Maple Grove Methodist Church, under the direction of the Rev. Ralph Yoss. Burial was in the Bloomingburg cemetery.

Pallbearers were Charles, George, Carl, Earl, Hugh and James Rea and Dale Young.

Graddy Services

Services for Mrs. Kathryn Florence Graddy, 77, widow of Grant Graddy, were held at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Parrett Funeral Home, with the Rev. Charles W. Ware, pastor of the Church of
